

Building a resilient Network: Switch Clustering

Building a resilient network for a converged network requires high bandwidth and sub second failover times. Two reasons we don't want spanning tree near the core of our network!